The wildoot and most latitudiners ideas of the older Federalism, in which the youth of President Buchanan was haptized—Achilles like, all but the hoel, leaving him a chance for retreat—never conceived the concentration of power so illimitable, dangurous, and despotic. During the entire war of the Roveintion, when Georgs Washington was leading our armise and possessed the unbounded considence of the Colonial Assemblies, and of the Continental Congress, the award and the purse were never thus placed in his single hand; and had intempetate frieudship or over realious patriotism auggested such a concentration, Washington would have rejected it, both on personal and public grounds. He would neither have permitted his ascret enomies to possess such an argument against his sincerity, nor have allowed the boly cause of republican independence to be sulfied by any suspicion of interested motives. In all the axchement which preceded the declaration of war against the strain is a like the law of the content of the declaration of war against which preceded the declaration of war against the strain is like in all our difficulties with the public interests, the national honor, or than ment expenditures from $13,000,000 up to also edicioned of our of snelve and defensive operations $100,000 unit; and, as their cay of retrenchment

The direct representatives of the people have the exclusive roatrol of the revenues; the sovareign States, by the assastorial sanction, have the exclusive t eaty making power; and the President wing at the Frankfirt convention. Whether there is the last of the property of the transfer to convention. Whether there is the property of the proper name of Senator Slidell as is that of Carthage very creadel which was intended to gnard the public very creates. By it an interest as an and of money was to be placed in the hands of Mr. Bucharan with a cach other's weigh? the purchase of the Island of Culm, and that money was to have Leen drawn from the treasury, not "in thicago for murdering his mistr as and hown ouse puence of appropriations made by inn," as re- ap her body for transportation, is said by the pup ent. Could foreign enmity or the jentousy of the teresting piece of information to the Empress dend. Could foreign enuity or the jeafoursy of the "divine tight" devise an entering wedge more fatal in the tendency to sunder the Union, than this offered by the paricidal hand of a degenerate American statesman. As Licostraton burned the temple of Diana in wantonneas, merely to eteraize his name an connection with a giant villainy, so Sli dell has the infamous notoriety of being the first Senator of the United States who, like the willing milion of the Syracusan tyrart, was ready to surrander all that departs; republish an agmenticle and That brief sentence begins with a truth, and ends, rander all that dignities republican symplicity and about "choose we a King is Dioaysias." We can not over estimate the degradation of the Senator's position, or miscalculate the imminence of party authorysency, when it sinus thus to aggregate all the a proposition ebould pass, and Mr. Buchanan enough. He and his gang are highwaymen. using the people's money to wrong its owners, now could the House of Representatives vote an imposcharent after having given up its cantody of the treasury to him, or how could the Sesate act as the large Court to try the imposchment, when its members have comented "to tie a stone each round the other's nock," and delegated to the President its other's nock," and delegated to the President its most earned functions? Thirty Million resolution, that presents a single re-deeming feature of necessity or even plausibility. Such a sum, if legitimately used, would be inadequate to accomplish the desired end, and though it imately, still the practical common sense of the American people will intuitively detect to corrupting tendencies and denounce it accordingly. Thirty millions of dollars—a larger sum, we believe, than was ever in the Federal Treasury at any one time-placed under the entire and irresponsible control of one man' Think of it, fellow-citizens, and a as an I. ien without sin or blot, would not such a proposition come like the great tempter to corrupt its innecesce and spread the ghantliness of death innecence and spread the guaranteer tha grave of its purity. Could the man be found, aurounded by partians readots, fory hearted extremists, and the knever always tellowing the court as if it were a camp, who would be able to resist the temptations, evade the importunities, or except the sances which baseness, cupidity, and anoing would spread around hun? The Slidell a heure, then, deserves to be branded throughout the length and breadth of the land as the apple, which the great for of republican rights-the monuter Devil of Party-has temptingly offered, that Democratic liberty might eat and die. It has been urged and cuforced by no appeal to patrictian; it as any mas only defeaded on the ground of miserable expediency and marked by a most degrading subservience to a President who has disappointed the hopes of his political friends and alarmed the fears mutured his judgment, and that he would have been proud to leave his record on the page of history un-sultied by any such pandering to the vilest instincts of depray, d human nature. The scheme is radical-, irremediably, and thoroughly had. It proposes inaugurate among us the very policy which rendars Louis Napoleon the scoff and by-word of all sullebtened people. It finds its precedent only in the decadence of the great Roman Empire when the imperial pures aubsidized the Praetorean guard, whose cohorts elevated imbecility to the purple or exalted infamy to the post of bonor, when gold was the great corrupter. Not more fatally did the hem-lock which passed the lips of Socrates penetrate the which cut off the head of Cicers sever the neck of ome's independence, than would the passage of the Slidell bill have poisoned the pure aprings of American legislation and lef. the genius of our country's bave been immediate—the present generation might not have felt is, but it would have come, burning its way this about the company of the comp way "like the mines of sulphur," slowly, insidious ly, treacherously, and yet always hastening to the inevitable ruin. God be praised that through any agency it was defeated. Heaves grant that the infamous threat of its revival next sension, made by John Stidell, may be received with hissing room from the entire nation which has been outraged and insulted by the more conception of his menarrous tit is said that the people of Baton Rouge are vidently making preparations for war. They have placed two hags brass caunou in a position to rake the river. Probably they are preparing to shoot the tariff if it comes that way, CTThe Louisville Democrat says that the Know-Nothing organization is barked at hy all the little dogs. It slways was—and hy some very great ded at oace, and the an oass too.

The Clarkwille defirence in the address, omitted to state their "principal cause of objection to the Democratic party, which is that it is a congaring and all-powerful party, which is keeps itself in power and the Opposition out." Our Tennessee extemporary also thinks the Convention should have proved "they have either the disposition or the ability to do any better" than the Democracy. This add an unusually large supply, as being the food a builty to do any better" than the Democracy. The flag of the Laurens was tactics of this "all conquaring" party, and its corress of power and the mode by which it keeps itself "in add the Opposition out," are admirably illustrated by recent developments, one of which we will now particularize. MOUNT VERNON BALL AT BOSTON .- The Mon Vernon ball at the Bostou Theater on Friday even ing lest was a very brilliant affair. It is supposed that is will not a very considerable sum for the Mount Varnon fund.

A large sale of negroes is taking place to-day at the race course. Nearly four hundred and fifty, belonging to Pierce Butler, the late hunshand of Mrs. Fanny Kemble Butler, are to be sold. I learn that the average price thue far is about $700. This sale has attracted a large number of tuyers from all parts of the country, and the competition has been quite spirited. Prices rule high, and it is probable the parties selling will be well satisfied.
